THE BOBTAIL CAR'S INTERESTING HISTORY GROWS FULLER OF EVENTS.

STILL MAKING A RECORD.

It Not Only Kills and Maims by Itself, bu Gives Opportunity for Robbery and Assault-Incidents of Yesterday's Continuation of the Levy Inquest by Corone

Coroner Messemer yesterday exercised his authority to prevent the badgering of witnesses by the counsel for the Twenty-third Street Railway Company and the consequen delay in the inquisition into the cause of death of Mrs. Sophia Levy. Lawyer House insisted that he had a right to be present and cross-examine witness but the Coroner told him that while he did not deny his right to be present, he must decide that he had no other right.

Stating that he had no desire to remain at the inquest in an ornamental capacity, Mr. House bowed himself out.

Col. Dennison, who has all along declared that he represented the corporation, announced that he appeared as counsel for Sec retary McLean, and served a writ upon the Coroner prohibiting him to proceed further n contempt proceedings against McLean. This writ was issued by Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, and is returnable in

Supreme Court, Chambers, Monday morning. By the affidavits on which it was granted the question was raised whether or not a Coroner has the power to require the production of books and papers, and the further ones. tion that McLean is an accused person and cannot be made to testify against himself by the production of evidence tending to crimi-

the production of evidence tending to criminate him.

The whole case hinges on the Coroner's intent to proceed, which does not appear, and the writ would be dismissed without a decision on the law should Dr. Messemer declare that he had no intention of further prosecuting the contempt proceedings. It is, however, to be hoped that the question of a Coroner's right to require the production of documentary evidence shall be determined, for on this right may depend the safety of the community from murderous assault.

Assistant District-Attorney Macdona will probably champion Coroner Messemer's case in court.

But two witnesses were examined at yester-

But two witnesses were examined at yesterday's session, and then an adjournment was taken to Wednesday next at 9 a. M.

The first witness was Edward T. Cody, of 317 West Twenty-sixth street, who testified to hearing Duffy, the driver of the car which killed Mrs. Levy, say that he was making change and looking into the car at the time. George W. Oesterle, a former driver of a Twenty-third street bobtall, was a witness who thought it strange that more people were not run over and killed by the jiggers. He said that the average amount per trip placed in the "charity box" in the end of the jigger is $4, the number of trips made each day being fifteen.

The evil of this conductorless system is daily exemplified. Tuesday night, Frank Templeton, of 461 West Twenty-first street, was terribly beaten by Joseph Pine and James Lee, two highwaymen, in a Twenty-third street car, the driver being entirely oblivious to the affray.

Yesterday, a two-year old child was run over by an Elizabeth, N. J., jigger while the driver was making change.

With such a record being daily made by this terrible nuisance, called a railway system, it is not to be wondered that there is a populer uprising to blot it off the face of the earth.

Coroner Messemer was greatly distressed

Novelty in Col. McCaull's Repertoire-"Uncle Tom's Cabin" to Be Supplied with a Mystic Vondoo Rite Scene-Helen Riythe's List of Attractions-An Applieant Whose Services Mrs. Fernander

A voudoo scene is to be one of the features of the production of " Uncle Tom's Cabin ' in which W. W. Randall and C. R. Gardiner are interested. It will show the religious rite in vogue among Southern negroes and has been written about by Cable. White people, it is said, are not allowed to witness the ceremony, but Mesars. Randall and Gardiner for a small consideration will show it to anybody. Frank Howson, of the Madison Square Theatre, has written some weirdly appropriate music for this scene. Iwo carloads of scenery will be shipped to Boston, where the piece is to open on Wednesday. No stock scenery will be used at any of the theatres that " Uncle Tom " visits.

Stage Manager Cripps and Musical Director Nowak were hard at work yesterday at Wallack's rehearsing various parts of "Prince Methusalem," which is now in the third week of its run at that theatre. Some of the maidens in the choruses had "grown careless," and the consequence was that they had a morning's work for their trouble. Stage Manager Cripps is terrible when he is thwarted. The maidens yesterday were very cross, and it is saie to suppose that they will evince no more "carelessness" during the run of Strauss's opera. Cripps believes in disciplins, 100 A 41 4

Cholmeley Jones has been appointed business manager of the new Grand Opera-House in Philadelphia, of which T. F. Kelly is proprietor. Mr. Jones enters upon his new duties on Monday. He says that the American opera season at that house has been wonderfully profitable, and the present week, the eleventh of the engagement, has been as good as any. good as any.

Col. McCaull next apring will probably produce. 'The May Queen," an opera by Uzibulka, composer of "Amorita" and that doleful chestnut, "The Stephanie Gavotte." 'The May Queen" has been produced in Berliu and Vienna with great success. The scenes are laid in England during the time of Oliyer Cromwell. Next summer Col. McCaull has 'Fatinitza" in view.

Mrs. George S. Knight is to take out a company during the coming season in a play called "Professional Euchre," an adaptation from the German. Her season is to open

A French sailor, just arrived, entered the office of Mrs. Fernandez yesterday and insisted upon singing a French song. He had with him an interpreter and made known the fact that he wanted an engagement to sing before the American public. Mrs. Fernandez referred him to Col. McCaull, "because," as she said, "the Colonel has a crutch knocking about that he can use to advantage upon him."

J. F. Brien, manager of Miss Helen Blythe, "the American actress," says that this lady's repertoire for the coming season will include "Twixt Axe and Crown," "Catherine Howard; or the Tomb, the Throne and the Scaffold," "L'Article '47," and "Condemn Not."

The season of Hallen and Hart will begin The season of Hallen and Hart will begin on Aug. 27, at the Bijou Theatre, Pittsburg. Pa., when their new musical farce by H. Yachting Notes

The sloop Kaugaroo, Mr. Franklin Beames, Brooklyn Yachi Club, is the champion prize-win-ner this season, having won first prizes in all the races she has started in except one.

The sloop Penguin, formerly owned and sailed by the late Mr. Peter Bentley, has been purchased by Mr. George E. Brightson, a well-known yachte-man and a member of the Manhattan Yacht Club. The sloop ship Titanta is fitting out at City Island for the New York Yacht City cruise. Her owner, Mr. C. C. iselib, is to Europe, but his brother, Mr. Wm. E. Iselia, is superintending the preparation of the yacht, and will sail her for all the honors in the race for the Goelet Cop.

Racing yachtamen about here look forward to a grand race between the sloop Titania, of Burgess's design, and the Katrina, of Mr. A. Cary Smith's design, when they meet on the cruise of the New York Yacht Club. It is not likely that the Shammong will sail for the Goelet Cup, as she is in her sea rig, and her owner is binefishing daily off Sandy Hook.

Sandy Hoos.

The sloop Volunteer will be a competitor in the clease of the big sloops in the races out of Newport this month. It is to be hoped that the sloop Puritism may also be in the 'hunt'' for the valuatie bliverware offered so generously by Mr. Orden Goelet. A race between the Puritian and the May-Rower would excite much interest.

nower would excite much laterest.

The sloop Mayflower, E. D. Morgan, is now at Newport. She has lately been fitted at City Island with a longer bowsprit and a jib to "set flying"—English cutter style. This new sail has been made specially for the Mayflower by Lapthorne, of England. She will sail for Bay Ridge to-day, and there be thoroughly overhauled by Sawyer for the Goelet Cup race.

If Havlin and Murphy had been milling for even a $500 purse there would have been sense, bar a suspicion of a fake, if it had been called a draw; but dividing matters when there was nothing to divide seems childish. The men battled for $1,000 a side and the credit of victory. Not one cent was up in the way of a purse, for the club men like those who failed to follow up the Carney. Jimmy Mitchell fight, lost the chance of seeing a splendid contest by their pettishness in refusing to even try to get the men together after Tuesday night's failure.

Murphy learned fighting in the Carney school, and I noticed but two or three small differences between the good one and the wonder. Murphy holds his left pretty well up, and his hands are always closed. Carney holds his left low, as George Holden used to do, and rested his hands by keeping them open, except when letting drive. Carney, too, was very careful about running around and ducking. He knew better than Murphy what terrible chances of being upper-cut dodging lays one open to, and how liable a ducker is to go dizzy.

How either party consented to a draw is another puzzle. Tom O'Rourke, Havlin's backer and able handler, has seen too much fighting to be easily seared. Holske, Patsy Sheppard, George Young, Barney Aaron and old John Frazier, who helped Murphy in his corner, ought to know when a man is able to go on. It was a question of knowing when one had enough. With Havlin's left eye closed tight, his left hand gone, his shoulders swollen and blackened and his legs giving way, Murphy seemed to have things his own way, but the Briton's stomach rebelled against further torture. When Murphy had Havlin all but knocked out in that terrible forty-seventh round, as Havlin himself acknowledged as he clinched with him on the ropes, exhausted nature would not let him finish his opponent.

George Young thinks the fight was all Murphy's and thinks the reports were all prejudiced in favor of Havlin.

Maurice Barrymore, the actor, says Havlin is the most wonderful stayer he ever saw. He thinks Havlin a stronger and more enduring fighter, but says Murphy ought to win if they fight again.

"Brooklyn Jimmy "Wakaly says Murphy is the best and cleverest fighter he ever saw perform, and thought him a sure winner, but he hears that his hands were badly done for. Jerry Fitzpatrick was a Havlin man all through, and still thinks the "little Morrissey's" pluck and endurance would have pulled him through a winner.

Charley Norton, ex-light-weight champion, says when Murphy is well he will trouble any one of his weight.

New Orleans continues to be taken and to burn very successfully at Brighton Beach. The management adds new features each week and its attractiveness is constantly on the increase. There remains but one week of the season of Buffalo Bill's Wild West on Staten Island. The receipts, always large, have increased coosiderably with the advent of August, the best month for outdoor amusements. Yesterday ten large excursion parties, numbering 4,500 persons, were on the grounds, while the night entertaisment attracted another large audience. The camp will be open to-morrow, the last Sunday of the season.
